Surprise Blackout Reported Success

Units Assemble Fast
On Call; Town Fully Darkened Before Alarm

By all reports, Andover came through with flying colors in last Thursday night's blackout. Except for the local mills, railroad signals and lights on radio transmitter towers, the whole town was completely darkened within minutes of the extinguishing of the street lights, well before the actual sounding of the sirens which indicated the beginning of the raid.

It was expected, before the blackout, that there would be some confusion among householders as to the proper time for putting out lights, and it was feared that the extinguishing of street lights would not prove an adequate signal. As things turned out, there was far less confusion than had been expected, and large numbers of workers had succeeded in completely darkening the town before the sounding of the sirens, which followed the putting out of local street lights by perhaps ten minutes.

Police Chief George A. Dame, following the blackout, reported that he had received no complaints of any kind of disorder, confusion, or

Chairman Clarifies Local Signals For Blackout

Chairman Alan T. Polgreen of the local civilian defense committee issued the following statement Monday relative to black out signals:

"For the purpose of clarifying any misunderstanding that may exist in the minds of the people regarding the rules governing blackouts, a few important provisions are herewith set forth:

"1. The signal for a blackout shall be the air raid alarm or the extinguishment of the street lights, whichever occurs first. The 'all clear' signal shall be the signal for the end of the blackout.

"2. Upon the signal for a blackout or at sunset, if that occurs during an air raid alarm, the occupants of all premises or parts of premises, public and private, shall extinguish all lights or darken the premises so that no light is visible from the outside.

"As it can be determined from the above, a blackout may occur without the sounding of any air raid alarm and the public should immediately make provisions for a blackout in that event. In districts where street lights are not visible to the householder, air raid warnings will notify them of the blackout."

To Photograph 1000 War Workers

The state photographer will visit in Andover at the Junior High School on Sunday afternoon and evening, April 26, for the making of photo-identity cards. Post cards will be sent to each person enrolled with the Andover Committee on Public Safety, telling the approximate time at which his number will be called.

As about 1000 persons are to be photographed, this is a big undertaking, and it is hoped each person will co-operate by being present promptly at the hour specified, and by exercising the necessary patience.

A charge of 25 cents is made by the photographer, and each person is asked to have the correct change ready. This will greatly expedite proceedings.

So far as is known this is the only time at which the photographer will be in Andover.

After the finished photo-identity cards are received, a limited number will be stamped on the back by the chief of police for blackout passes.

HEADS COUNTY SELECTMEN

Roy E. Hardy, chairman of the Andover Board of Selectmen, was elected president of the Essex County Selectmen's Association at its annual dinner meeting held Saturday at the Square and Compass Club. About thirty town officials throughout the county attended.

Main speaker at the meeting was Emil E. Keifer, insurance executive, who spoke on fire losses, bonding and casualty losses.

Junior High Minstrelmen Bring Down The House In Riotous Version Of "Dickensapoppin"

Informality, downright madness if you will, seems to score heavily in our most successful plays now, and Broadway has witnessed no more astounding spectacle, in the past three years, than the strictly untheatrical antics of one Olsen and one Johnson. Small wonder, then, that last Friday's Junior high presentation at the Memorial auditorium turned out to be pretty much on the zany side—a sort of "Dickensapoppin'."

The evening was off to a good start when a young man appeared on stage to announce that Part II would be presented first, Part I second, and without an intermission. That turned out to be a good idea, for Part II started with a magic act. One fellow came out, rolled a folded newspaper into a cone, poured milk into it, unrolled the paper completely dry. Another magician unrolled a streamer of red paper, burnt it to a crisp, then produced it intact out of thin air. After that, the audience was ready for anything.

Hold Fourth Draft Registration Here April 26-27 For Men 45 to 65

150 Volunteers To Canvass For Bonds

That Andover men and women are willing to support enthusiastically any patriotic movement is, of course, no secret to anyone who has watched the progress of the town's war effort for the past several months. Still, the announcement by James Gould, chairman of the local committee for the sale of war bonds, that more than 145 volunteer workers will take part in the coming canvass, is a most encouraging report.

The workers are to be organized by precincts, under captains in each district. They will each be responsible for securing pledges to buy bonds from about ten households in their district. Every wage-earner during the campaign, which will run from April 20 to May 5, will be asked to sign a pledge promising to buy stamps or bonds weekly; the actual purchase, however, will be made through the usual channels of the postoffice, banks and factories.

The canvass will take place in every community in every state, according to the proclamation of President Roosevelt. Governor Saltonstall has designated this two-week period for the campaign in this state.

In a joint statement from Henry Hopper and Hugh Bullock of Local Board 3 this morning, it was announced that the fourth draft registration, of men between the ages of 45 and 65, will take place on Sunday and Monday, April 26 and 27, at the town house.

All local residents who have attained their 45th birthday before February 16 of this year and who have not reached their 65th birthday on April 27, are required to register. The town house will be open Sunday from 9 to 5, Monday between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., for registration.

According to the announcement, required to register is "every male citizen of the United States and every other male person residing in the continental United States or in the Territory of Alaska, or in the Territory of Hawaii, or in Porto Rico, other than persons excepted by Section 5-(a) of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, and by Section 208 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary and Reserve Act of 1941, if such male citizen or other male person on February 16, 1942, has attained the forty-

"Victory Book Day" To Renew Collection Drive

When President Roosevelt, at his press conference Tuesday, designated tomorrow as "Victory Book Day," attention was dramatically focussed on the need to provide books for Americans in the armed services. The result should be that the giving of books will be greatly accelerated, since a special presidential committee, headed by Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, will direct tomorrow's activities.

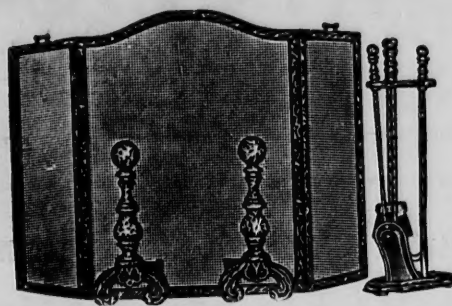

Locally, books have been coming into the Memorial Hall Library steadily these past few weeks, if more slowly than at first. The library, though it has collected some 3600 books, feels that it should not let the fact that it has done so well, blind it to the fact that it can do even better. There are other communities in the United States less

TOWNSMAN, April 16, 1942

So This Is Andover!

Sure, this is Andover, but not the one you're acquainted with. The photograph was taken by Horace N. Stevens, formerly of North Andover, Mass., U. S. A., in Andover, Hampshire, England.

The picture may serve to remind you of the photograph contest sponsored by the Addison Gallery and the Townsman, and due to close at 5:00 Tuesday. Get out that camera now and start snapping—snapping pictures of such a nature that, in a collection, they will form a concrete image of the freedom we're all fighting for, of democracy as it exists in this sober New England town.

Remember the rules, which you'll find elsewhere in this issue. When the pictures are finally shown at the Academy, it is hoped that they'll make an image of modern democracy in the most modern way—through photographs.

BALLARDVALE

Patriots' Party Tomorrow

Tomorrow evening, the Friendly Guild will hold a patriot's party in the vestry at 8 o'clock. The members of the A. P. C. Society of the Congregational Church of North Andover will be guests. An evening of games will be enjoyed and refreshments will be served.

Men's Club Meeting

The Men's Club held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening, with the president, George Sparks, in the chair. An interesting talk, given by Rev. Harland Lewis of Phillips Academy, was enjoyed by the men. Refreshments were served by George Mitchell, Clester Matthews and Harold Starke.

Heirloom Tea

The ladies of the Union Congregational Church will hold an heirloom tea in the vestry Wednesday afternoon, April 29. There will be an exhibit of heirlooms, a speaker, and refreshments.

Guest Preacher

Rev. Reginald Nichol was guest preacher at the morning service Sunday in the Union Congregational Church. It was exchange Sunday in many of the churches of Greater Lawrence. Rev. David Segestrom filled the pulpit in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Lawrence.

Clubs

November Club Elects At Annual Meeting

The November Club closed a most successful season at its annual meeting Monday afternoon, and guaranteed an equally successful one for 1942-43 by re-electing Mrs. F. Tyler Carlton of Cheever Circle as president. Serving with her during the 1942-43 season will be Miss Marguerite Hearsey, first vice-president; Mrs. Myron E. Gutterson, second vice-president; Mrs. Harold T. Godfrey, recording secretary; Mrs. Norman I. Bearse, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John E. Burgess, treasurer; Mrs. Louis S. Finger, director for one year; Mrs. Miles S. Malone and Miss Sarah E. Bodwell, directors for three years.

The nominating committee was composed by Mrs. Douglas Donald, Mrs. Lester E. Lynde and Mrs. Foster C. Barnard. A canteen luncheon was served.

To Take Part In Boston Ceremonies

Members of the General Joseph Frye Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution will take part in the Patriots' Day exercises to be held at the Central, Granary and King's Chapel burial grounds, Boston, Monday morning. The graves of Paul Revere, William Dawes, James Otis and a number of other Revolutionary patriots will be decorated.

In the evening at 7:00, members of the local chapter will attend the annual dinner meeting of the state society at the Harvard Club, Boston, and receive a special welcome from the commanding general of the First Corps area.

World War service medals, awarded by the state society to members who served in World War I, will be presented H. Garrison Holt and Frederick E. Cheever.

Next Wednesday evening the regular dinner meeting of the chapter will be held at Billie's River-view, Lowell boulevard, Methuen, at 6:45.

Speaks On Salvage Before Legion Tonight

Harry D. Leannard, chairman of the newly-formed salvage committee, will speak on the question of salvage at a meeting of the local American Legion post in the post rooms tonight. As other important business must be acted on, all members are urged to attend.

Next Thursday night, a joint meeting of the Legion and its auxiliary will be held on the subject of child welfare, a matter in which the Legion has done much good work in the past. State Chairman Crowley of the child welfare branch will be the principal speaker, and guests from Methuen, North Andover and Lawrence have been invited. An entertainment program and the serving of refreshments will follow the meeting, which is to begin at 8:00. At 7:30, a brief business session will be held.

Many prizes will be awarded at a bridge and whist party to be held tomorrow evening in the Legion rooms. Play will begin at 8:00. Mrs. Arthur Jowett is chairman, assisted by Mrs. L. W. Muise and Mrs. George C. Napier.

V. F. W. Post And Auxiliary To Have Joint Installation

Mr. and Mrs. George Symonds of Summer street will be formally inducted into office at a joint installation of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post and its auxiliary on April 24. Many friends have been invited to attend, and the ceremony promises to be one of the best ever held by the organizations. Past Commander Thomas L. Raidy will act as installing officer.

The weekly whist parties, which have been successfully conducted over a period of eight years by the post and its auxiliary, will be continued on Thursday evenings, and it is hoped that they will continue to be patronized by local players.

A few new receiving stations for the addresses of the boys in service are expected to be announced shortly. The post's comfort committee is still anxious to have the name of every local serviceman for its mailing list. His address should be sent to the committee at 91 Elm street.

To Speak On Frye Village

The Andover Historical Society will hold its customary semi-annual meeting tomorrow at 8 o'clock at 97 Main street.

Following the regular business, William A. Trow will give the fourth of a series of talks upon the history and homes of some of Andover's early families. The story of Frye Village and its family of that name will be the subject of the evening.

A social hour with reminiscences and discussions will follow. Members and interested guests are reminded that this is the last announced meeting of the season.

League Of Women Voters

A discussion group on "The Organization for Permanent Peace" will be held by the league tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the Memorial Hall library. The group is under the department of government and foreign policy, which is headed by Mrs. Herbert Merrick. Mrs. Dudley Fitts and Mrs. Merrick will be in charge of this particular discussion.

Another meeting under the same department will be held a week from tomorrow at 2:30, when Mrs. Parker C. Hatch of Hingham will speak on the League of Nations at the home of Mrs. Fitts, Adams Hall.

Andover Service Club

N. D. Valentine, a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Boston, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Andover Service Club next Thursday evening. Mr. Valentine was designated to speak here by J. T. Madigan, who heads the Boston bureau. His talk on the work of the bureau is expected to be especially interesting in view of the sensational work the F. B. I. has been doing recently in rounding up saboteurs and fifth columnists. The meeting will be held at the Square and Compass Club, and will open with dinner at 6:15.

SHAWSHEEN WOMEN'S CLUB

The dramatic department of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wright Stafford, 11 Walcott avenue. Mrs. Harrison Brown will be co-chairman of the meeting.

Post And Auxiliary Joint Installation

Mrs. George Symonds of Andover will be formally installed as post office at a joint installation of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary on Saturday afternoon. Many friends have been invited to attend, and the ceremony will be one of the best ever given by the organizations. Past postmaster Thomas L. Raidy will be the installing officer. The ceremony will be followed by a social hour, which will be successfully conducted by the post and its auxiliary. The ceremony will be held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Trow on Thursday evening, and it is expected that they will continue to be held by local players. The post is now receiving stations for the boys in service, and the postmaster is expected to be announced soon. The post's comfort committee is anxious to have the very best service for its members. His address should be given to the committee at 91 Elm Street.

On Frye Village

The Andover Historical Society will give the customary semi-annual meeting at 8 o'clock at the Frye Village.

The regular business session will be held at the Frye Village. The series of talks upon the history of the village will be the subject of the meeting.

The hour with reminiscences will follow. Members interested in the history of the village are requested to attend this is the last meeting of the season.

Women Voters

A group on "The Order for Permanent Peace" will be held by the league tomorrow at 2:30 in the Memorial Hall. The group is under the leadership of government and industry, which is headed by Mrs. Merrick. Mrs. D. H. Merrick will be the speaker.

The meeting under the same name will be held a week later at 2:30, when Mrs. H. H. Hatch of Hingham will be the speaker. The League of Nations at the home of Mrs. Pitts, Adams Hall.

Service Club

Valentine, a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Boston, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Service Club next Thursday. Mr. Valentine was designated here by J. T. Madigan, head of the Boston bureau. In the work of the bureau, he has been doing a great deal of work in rounding up saboteurs and columnists. The meeting will be held at the Square and Commerce, and will open with dinner.

Master Edward B. McLean has returned to his home in Yardley, Pa., after a week's visit with his grandmother, Mrs. K. H. Barnard of Lowell street. Only seven years old, he made the long train trip alone.

K. H. Barnard, who is now located in Stamford, Conn., spent the week-end with his family on Lowell street.

Punchard Notes

Sally O'Riordan

Baseball practice has been held all this week under the direction of Mr. McDonald. The boys are getting ready for their first game, with Chelmsford, on May 8. About 25 candidates went out last Wednesday, but only a few of them had played on last year's team.

The Junior class ordered their class rings last week, and expect to receive them toward the end of May.

The annual Spring vacation will start tomorrow, and marks for the term will close then. Classes will resume on April 27.

BIRTHS

In Fulton, N. Y., on April 13, a son, Lee Arthur, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Lewis of Syracuse. Mr. Lewis is the son of Herbert Lewis of Lowell street.

A daughter, born Saturday at the Lawrence General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Sheehy, 59 Lowell street.

MEN OF WAR

General Electric men and women—thousands of them! Four typical scenes show the spirit with which they are tackling the grim job of producing for war!

1. Thousands of employees, only ten days after war declaration, gathered in mass meetings in most major G-E plants to pledge all-out war effort!

2. Almost 85 per cent of all General Electric employees signed up to buy U. S. Defense Savings Bonds totalling more than $20,000,000 a year!

3. A sign chalked by a G-E workman on a big machine being built for war. The sign carried this challenge to fellow workers: "Remember Wake Island!"

4. And day and night—around the clock—G-E workmen keep steadily at the most important job of building weapons and supplies for U. S. fighting men!

POLICE BLOTTER

Just a quiet Saturday evening, with Officer Frank McBride and Reserve Officer O'Brien of the local police department on duty at the Square. Towards midnight, three cars came through. Nothing unusual about that? Well, it so happened that the three cars were going at a 70-mile-an-hour clip, and what's more, they were traveling abreast and taking up the entire road!

Officers O'Brien and McBride jumped into the police cruiser, and followed the cars up the Hill, stopping them near the lights. They reported afterwards that they had turned on the sirens to stop the cars, but to no avail, and that they were finally forced to increase their speed to 75 miles an hour, pass the cars, and force them to the side of the road.

Then came the surprise, for, when the automobiles were stopped, no fewer than 24 young men got out. They all came from Cambridge or its vicinity, and said that they were returning home after a dance in Lowell. Realizing at last that they had probably been as close to death as they ever will be, they shook hands all around and thanked the officers for stopping them.

The three drivers, James Demas, 223 Green street; Fred S. Karaglanis, 186 Harvard street; and Sheridan L. Liakes, 225 Washington street, all of Cambridge, were brought to trial in the Lawrence district court. They were fined $35 each on charges of operating to endanger, and speeding charges were filed.

Two fairly new tires were stolen from a sedan parked at the local railroad station and belonging to Thomas Wrigley of Lowell street sometime around 8:00 Tuesday morning. It was found that the rear wheels were jacked up, with bricks put under the rims.

A. L. Jackson, residing at the Andover Inn, reported to police that, while he was at the station around 9:00, he saw a suspicious car pull out and drive away. The car, he said, was a 1936 or 1937 model; its grill work was badly dented, and a smash in its left front mudguard had been crudely hammered out. He described the driver as about 22 years of age, dark in complexion, and wearing a checkered sport shirt.

Thanks to Mr. Jackson's observation, local police were able to get an early start on the tire-thief, since the owner of the car did not return from Boston and discover his loss until around 6 o'clock that evening.

* * *

The police department has been receiving complaints that certain parts of Walnut avenue have been used as an impromptu dumping ground by careless motorists or other persons. Chief George A. Dane warns that such an offense is punishable by a fine of $25. Intensive efforts will be made in the near future to correct these conditions, since complaints have also been received about scattering rubbish along the roads leading to the public dump in West Andover. Drivers of trucks containing carelessly packed paper and waste are believed principally at fault.

Cases of vandalism in isolated parts of town have become quite serious recently. Recently, a barn was broken into in Shawsheen, and considerable damage done. Four boys were later determined to be responsible, and their parents agreed to pay a total of $40 damages for materials destroyed.

A second instance was at a camp near Haggett's Pond sometime before 5 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, when its owner returned to find that several street lights had been broken on poles leading into the camp. Local police are investigating.

One of the most vicious breaks of its kind in years, however, took place last Saturday in a house on Greenwood road. The owner has been allowing the tenant to live there rent free while the latter makes repairs to the building.

Practically every possible type of destruction was done to the house. All the windows in both the front and rear were deliberately smashed. Cans of expensive paint were broken open, and their contents slopped on shirts, mattress, bedding, a stove and a kitchen table. Eight pounds of sugar were strewn around the floor, stripes were painted on a small trunk, and chair legs were broken. Of 24 large cans of food, all were either hurled through closed windows or broken open. A 1938 automobile in the rear of the building had every window smashed, and 15 jars of food were broken against it. It was estimated that at least $250 damage was done, discounting the fact that some of the pieces which remained intact are barely able to be repaired.

There's a good ending to a rather shocking story, however; investigating police officers have picked up the two boys allegedly responsible, both about 15 years of age, and they are to be tried in Juvenile court in Lawrence next Thursday morning. Several detailed photographs of the scene have been taken.

Members of the auxiliary police corps were guests at a meeting of the police relief association held in the American Legion hall Monday evening. Atty. Max D. Nicholson, assistant district attorney in Lawrence, gave an interesting lecture on "Police Powers and Duties," and several motion pictures were shown, including an official Federal Bureau of Investigation film, "The Law of Arrest and Search," and skiing pictures filmed by H. Lester Utley of Carisbrooke street.

Refreshments were served by Sergeants W. Raymond Hickey and David L. Nicoll, and Officers Carl H. Stevens and Arthur Jowett.

Herbert F. Chase Dies At Home

Herbert Fairbanks Chase, 82, well-known to thousands of former Phillips Academy athletes, whose teams he outfitted for nearly forty years as proprietor of the local sporting goods store now managed by William Poland, died this morning at his home at 124 Summer street, after an illness of two weeks.

He was affectionately known as "Herb" to everyone connected with sports locally for several decades, and came in contact with junior athletes who later developed into some of the most renowned competitors this country has ever known. During his long career as a local merchant, he became an integral figure in local sports circles.

Surviving him are a son, Abbott Chase of this town; and two grandchildren, David Leslie Chase and Sarah Fern Chase.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Helping Hand Society Holds Supper Wednesday

A home-cooked supper will be held next Wednesday evening from 5:30 to 7:00 at the Free church under the auspices of the Helping Hand society. Tickets priced at 50 cents may be had from Mrs. Alexander MacKenzie, Mrs. George Murray, Mrs. Alexander Black, Mrs. James Edgar, Mrs. George Nicoll, and Mrs. Edmund Dunwoody.

The society takes this opportunity of thanking all who made its recent rummage sale a success, since the sum of $42 was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Burke and their son Jackie recently motored to Quantico, Va., where their son, J. William Burke, is located as a private in the Marine Corps.
Pvt. Burke expects to enter a Marine radio school shortly. It's Lieut.
James M. Gillespie now. Son of Mr.
and Mrs. James Gillespie of 92 Elm street, he recently received his Army Air Corps commission at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo. Boston

strapping young American soldier,

ning a range-finder at Port Darwin, Australia. His wide Andover acquaintance didn't have any trouble

nary training in the coast guard,

now located with the air corps at Miami Beach, Florida.

Incidentally, the Townsman
would like to have as many items
as it can about the estimated 400 Andover boys serving in the armed forces. Has he been made a sergeant, or even a p.f.c.? Has he been transferred from Fort Riley to Fort Bragg? Was he home on furlough recently? Is he somewhere overseas? No one is as important as our soldiers, sailors and marines
to Andover now; the Townsman
would be glad to hear about them.

Andover League To Formulate Special Wartime Program

The Andover League of Women Voters has formed a committee to direct a special wartime program.
Members are Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast, Mrs. Dudley Fitts, Mrs.
James R. Adriance, Mrs. Bynon
Weiner and Mrs. John B. Hawes.

Much of the League's wartime work will be done through the distribution of leaflets analyzing phases of war economics and the functioning of government in war.

The first leaflet explains why every citizen should buy defense bonds and stamps, and several of the points it makes are well worth repeating:

1. Today most people have more money than they have had for a long time because there are more jobs and wages, profits and dividends are higher. With this money they can either "buy as usual" and buy things they have never had before, or they can lend it to the government to help pay for the war.
Furthermore, there are not enough goods both for war needs and for the people to buy as usual.

2. Where there is more money to spend and at the same time, less to buy, prices will rise if people spend freely, thus bidding against each other and against the government. Then it will take more money to buy things; then workers will ask for higher wages. Again, there will be more money to buy goods and prices will rise again. The result—inflation.

3. If money is lent to the government to help pay for the war,
inflation and later deflation may be prevented. The government cannot get by taxation all the money
it needs to fight the war because,
first, the amount needed is unknown and it is impossible to frame in a hurry a suitable tax plan, and second, the money is needed, not next year, but immediately.

4. It is a good idea for the government to pay for the war by borrowing from the people because:
the people won't have as much money left to buy the goods the government needs to fight the war;
therefore, prices will not skyrocket.
When prices stay in line, the money in circulation will buy more. Bond purchasers will get back from the government later their original loan with interest. With the money saved in this way, they will be able to buy goods when the war is over,
and thus help cushion the slump at the end of the war.

Scrap For The Scrap

This is quite a scrap we're engaging in against the Japanese, and the scrap in your back yard, your attic and your garage is going to play a big part in making it a successful one. A salvage committee organized this week under the local civilian defense organization, with Harry D. Learnard of Morton street as chairman, urges townspeople to round up their old paper, iron and all other metals, rags and paper.

The committee is not asking for the donation of scrap; it merely wishes that it be sold or given to some collection agency in order that it may immediately reach the defense plants which need it.
Householders can sell their scrap,
keep the money or give it to a war organization, or they can notify the organization that they have scrap to be collected. Anyone getting rid of his accumulated junk by any means will be performing a service in the present emergency; for the present, however, he is urged mere-method of collection and distribution is worked out by the committee.

Gardens For Victory

With many agricultural workers being drawn into industry and the armed forces, the United States, in order to insure adequate food production, is going to need the help of everyone who can possibly engage in gardening this year. Prof.
Arnold Davis of the faculty of Massachusetts State College at Amherst, will tell those interested how to get started in a lecture entitled
"Home Vegetable Gardens" next Thursday evening. Sponsored by the Andover Garden Club, and open to the public without charge, it will be held in the Junior High School building.

Represent Christ Church At Episcopal Convention

Irving Southworth, C. Carlton Kimball and Kenneth S. Minard will serve as delegates to the 157th annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, which opens Tuesday at Trinity Church,
Boston, with addresses by Bishop
Henry Knox Sherrill and Bishop
Raymond A. Heron. The convention will hold sessions through Wednesday.

Other local residents holding office in this Episcopal diocese are J. Russell Barlow, chairman of the Merrimack district, men's division;
Mrs. Guy B. Howe, vice-president, Merrimack district, women's division; C. Carleton Kimball, member, diocesan council; and Rev.
John S. Moses, chairman, committee on constitution and canons.

The Andover Committee for the Sale of War Bonds and Stamps wishes to thank the 150 citizens who have volunteered their services.

This group is asked to meet in Memorial Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, not 8, tonight, Thursday, April 16, for an outline of procedure, assignment of tasks and the distribution of necessary material.

There will be a very brief preliminary meeting, after which wardens will meet separately by precincts for district organization.

The entire business of both meetings should be accomplished within an hour.

Following are the precinct captains:

Precinct One: Nathan C. Hamblin, T. Augustus Farragher

Precinct Two: Joseph McCarthy, George Markey

Precinct Three: Ralph Wilkinson, Stafford Lindsay

Precinct Four: Kirk Batcheller, Vincent Treanor

Precinct Five: William D. McIntyre

Precinct Six: Fred Cheever, Thaxter Eaton

WEDDINGS

Foley-Holihan

At a pretty wedding solemnized at St. Augustine's church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, Miss Marie Alice Holihan, daughter of Mrs. James P. Holihan of 30 Morton street, became the bride of Dr. Thomas F. Foley, nephew of Miss Elizabeth Kearns of Manchester, N. H. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass by Very Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., pastor.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James Holihan, and wore a white faille silk gown, with a veil falling from a cap of white feathers and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white orchids. Miss Elizabeth Holihan, a sister of the bride, wore an apple green faille silk gown with matching cap of green feathers, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

Neil Crenin of Manchester, a friend of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were William and Joseph Holihan of Andover, John Dineen of Lawrence and Kenneth Kearns of Manchester.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Andover Country Club. After a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Manchester.

Mrs. Alberta M. LeMay, 20 West Baltimore street, Lynn, and Charles E. Delisle, 71 Webb street, Salem, were united in marriage Saturday. Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South Church, performed the ceremony at his home.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

New High in Ship Production

LIBERTY SHIPS BEING FITTED OUT AT A BETHLEHEM YARD PREPARATORY TO SEA SERVICE. THE YARD IS PRODUCING A CONTINUOUS STREAM OF VESSELS OF THIS TYPE.

Bethlehem ship production this year will represent the greatest all-round shipbuilding output by any company in the history of the country.

Speed, speed and more speed is the constant objective; and always speed with quality, for a jerry-built ship is virtually useless in the grim tasks of maritime war.

The first Liberty ship which recently discharged supplies at a Red Sea port was built in a yard that was virtually non-existent a year ago. A tanker was delivered in 100 days from laying of keel. A battleship will be delivered 14 months ahead of schedule.

Cargo ships are being built in less than one-half the time required in the first World War. Comparable speeding up has been achieved on other types of ships and the schedule is being constantly stepped up.

Expanding old yards, building new ones, tripling employment in a year's time, training thousands of new men, putting every effective facility to use, adopting pre-assembly and mass production methods—all these spell tonnage and more tonnage, a steadily-mounting output of ships from Bethlehem yards.

All hands are doing their utmost for Victory, working to achieve the maximum for the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Maritime Commission, so that the "bridge of ships" shall be maintained and steadily enlarged.

TOMORROW—Barnard Prize-Speaking Contest

"What, No Tires?"; "Women in Defense"; "Plastics in Modern Life"; "My Bicycle, the Road, and I"—well, a list of titles like that would seem to prove that Punchard students are strictly up to the minute, and they're a cross section of the subjects to be discussed in the Memorial Auditorium tomorrow night by eight Punchard students, in the annual Barnard competition.

The titles above, in that order, will be discussed by James Collins, Catherine Patullo, Anne Sparks, and Gene Farnsworth. Other topics and speakers: "The Family Album" by Norman Goff, "At Twilight" by Ruth Nicoll, "Associated Press" by Gilbert Hamlin, and "Whims of a Sailboat" by Frederick Nowell.

The girls' glee club, under the direction of Miss Miriam Sweeney, will sing two selections, "Thanks Be to God" and "Just For Today." Judges at the contest will be Mrs. Harold T. Godfrey, Herbert H. Otis and Rev. Donald H. Savage.

TOMORROW—"Pinafore" By Combined School Clubs

Scheduled for presentation Saturday evening, the local production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore" is receiving its finishing touches up at George Washington Hall. Since the operetta went into rehearsal over two months ago, constant practice has acquainted both actors and chorus with their speaking and singing lines, and during the last few weeks the details of the action have been studied.

The mixed cast, composed of girls from the Fidelio society of Abbot Academy and boys from the Phillips Academy glee club, has been rehearsing almost daily under There'll be home-baked food prepared by the Women's Alliance and candy made by the Mr. and Mrs. club. The Margaret Slattery class is planning a pound table, the Sunday school is hunting for white elephants, while the Christian Endeavor, the Girl and Boy Scouts are planning games and grabs. The Young Married Group, in addition to its arts and crafts table, will conduct a parcel post sale, with articles from as far west as Seattle. Decorations will be in charge of Roland Fraser and Andrew Jackson.

A home-cooked supper will be served from 5:30 to 7:00 by the Helping Hand society. Reservations at 50 cents may be made by calling Mrs. Edmund Dunwoody, 628-R.

Mrs. Charles Shattuck and Mrs. Clifford Dunnells are co-chairmen of arrangements. Mrs. Henry Albers and Mrs. Harvey Bacon will be in charge of the kitchen, and Mrs. Miles Ward of the dining room.

APRIL 24—Spring Concert By Male Choir

The fifteenth annual spring concert by the Andover Male Choir is to be held next Friday evening, April 24, at 8:15, in the Memorial Auditorium. A prominent soloist is expected to be engaged for the program, which will include groups by the choir and excerpts from Tannhauser by the Andover Choral Society.

Tickets for the performance may be secured from any member of the two choruses.

APRIL 29—Movie Of Russian Air Hero

Shown here on April 29, under the auspices of the local Russian War Relief committee, will be a Russian film depicting the life of Valeri Chkalov, best known to Americans for his leadership of the first trans-polar flight from Moscow to the northwest coast of this country in 1937.

TOWNSMAN, April 16, 1942

Chkalov, in the years since his death in 1938, has become an almost legendary hero with the Russian people. More than 250,000 people attended his funeral in 20 below zero weather, and, a month afterwards, a province previously known as Orenburg changed the name of its territory and that of its principal city to Chkalovsk in his honor.

The picture is to be shown in George Washington Hall on April 29 at 8:00, and tickets are now on sale at $1.10 and 55 cents. In charge of arrangements are Dr. Claude M. Fuess, honorary chairman; James H. Grew, chairman; Abbot Stevens, Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, Thaxter Eaton, James Gould, Elmer J. Grover, Nathan C. Hamblin, Miss Marguerite Hearsey, C. Carleton Kimball, Rev. Herman C. Johnson, Mrs. Hart D. Leavitt, Mrs. Frances P. McClellan, Mrs. Frederick C. Smith and Eric A. Starbuck.

MAY 2—May Breakfast By Legion Auxiliary

Fruit juice, ham, beans, rolls, pie and coffee, and all for 35 cents. Sound good to you? Well, that's what the Legion auxiliary is offering at its annual May breakfast, to be held in the Legion rooms on Saturday morning, May 2, from 6 to 9 o'clock. You can get a ticket from any committee member; children wishing to sell tickets get one free with every ten sold, also by application to the committee.

Overseeing arrangements are Mrs. George Cilley, Mrs. Arthur Jowett, Mrs. John Keith, Mrs. Thomas P. Dea, Mrs. H. Garrison Holt, Mrs. Paul Cheney and Mrs. George C. Napier.

A patriotic card party is to be held in the Legion rooms tomorrow night under the auxiliary's auspices. Play will begin at 8:00, and many prizes and door prizes will be awarded. Mrs. Napier and Mrs. Jowett are co-chairmen of arrangements.

MAY 3—League Sponsors Lecture By Stanley Chapple

Music lovers of Andover had an unforgettable afternoon last year when Stanley Chapple, the English conductor, told the story of Der Meistersinger, Wagner's comic opera, in a lecture recital. On Sunday afternoon, May 3rd, at 3 o'clock, Mr. Chapple will be presented at the Memorial Auditorium by the Andover League of Women Voters. Incidents from the life of Brahms, with generous excerpts from his music, will be the subject of this recital.

With his exceptional skill and enthusiasm as a lecturer, Mr. Chapple combines the gift of easy and delightful illustrating at the piano. He is best known in New England as the assistant to Dr. George Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, in the school of conducting at Tanglewood.

Tickets are priced at $1.10 for adults and 55 cents for students under college age. They may be ordered from Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, telephone 1452.

A partial list of patrons and patronesses follows:

Deadline Nears In Photograph Contest

Tuesday at 5:00 is the deadline for submitting photographs of Andover scenes or people in the "Image of Freedom" contest being sponsored by the Addison Gallery and the Townsman. Many fine entries have already been received, but it is to be emphasized that pictures submitted between now and Tuesday will be judged on absolutely the same basis as those received at the Townsman office earlier in the month.

Fifteen dollars in defense stamps will be awarded the competition winners, first prize being $5, second $3, third $2, with five $1 awards. The winning picture will be published in the Townsman.

The pictures should be in keeping with the exhibition, "The Image of Freedom," now being shown at the Addison Gallery, on which the present contest is based—that is, they must, as a collection, show the workings of democracy in a small town. Photographs must be taken within the town limits; a title and the name and address of the photographer must appear on the reverse of each print; entries may be mounted or unmounted, are limited to three to a contestant, and need not have been developed or printed by him.

The final standing of the girls' teams at the conclusion of the volleyball series is: Golds, first, and Greens, Blues and Reds in that order. The results of the last games Tuesday were: Greens 21, Golds 18; Blues 21, Reds 18.

The sale of defense stamps last week amounted to $102.20, bringing the total to $1,214.05. To date, 170 sweaters have been knitted by the students and turned over to the Red Cross.

The following received 100 percent after first taking their library tests: Division 8-7, Francis Manning and Joseph Misenti; Division 8-8, Dorothy Brearly, Henrietta Demboski, Constance Dow, Betty Jane Gordon, Lila Phillips, Margaret Tateosian and Dorothy Valentine.

The Golds won the boys' shuffleboard tournament, and behind them finished the Greens, Reds and Blues in that order.

RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

A. W. Badger, treasurer of the Andover Steam Laundry, was re-elected president of the Massachusetts Laundry Owners Association at its annual convention held in Boston last Saturday.

Study Course In Nutrition

A study course designed to teach local householders how to furnish their families with more nourishing meals, and at the same time to buy economically, started last night in Room 4 of the Punchard High School building under the supervision of the local Parent-Teachers' Association. Miss Hope Coolidge, dietitian at Abbot Academy, is instructor of the course, which will be conducted every Wednesday through May 13, sessions beginning at 7:30.

All parents are invited by the organization to attend the rest of the meetings, which will be conducted in the form of a round-table discussion with Miss Coolidge as leader. There will be a weekly 25 cents admission charge to cover expenses.

Abbot Academy Notes

Chilly breezes and damp ground greeted the Abbot girls this week when, on Monday, their spring sports schedule was officially opened. But the riders, together with the wielders of racquet, bat and club, soon found that they could keep warm in spite of the New England spring. A group of English folk dancers have begun to prepare a special feature for the celebration of Abbot's birthday in May; the candidates for college next fall have taken their achievement and aptitude tests; the third quarter reports are out, and all in all Abbot has entered the last lap of her school year.

On Saturday night the entire school will attend the joint performance of "H. M. S. Pinafore" to be given by Abbot's Fido Society and Phillips Academy's Glee Club in George Washington Hall. The Abbot soloists will be Alva Houston of Andover, singing Josephine, Florence Shaw of Bronxville, N. Y., as Little Buttercup, and Louise Leslie of Beverly, as Cousin Hebe.

Norma Allen Haine (Mrs. William Haine), Abbot '15, and Miss Marguerite Hearsay, will present a program of music and poetry at the vespers service on Sunday at 7:30. Mrs. Haine is contralto soloist in the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Hartford, Conn., and in 1930 and again in 1934 she gave a concert at the school. She was president of the Abbot Alumnae Association from 1934 to 1938. The public is cordially invited to attend this program.

Book Day

book conscious and less able to give, so that Andover must do more than its exact share.

It should be borne in mind that the estimates of books which would be needed for our men in the services were made before December 7, and it should not be hard to realize that many more books are needed than were at first estimated.

Some weeks ago, it was estimated that the Victory Book campaign had in hand some five million books which could be sent to fill the requests of the services as follows: Army, 2,500,000; expeditionary forces, 600,000; U. S. O. clubs, 650,000; merchant marine, 200,000; navy, 1,050,000. But there are many needs yet to be met.

Waiting to be sent on to some camp from the library, at the moment, are such fine books as "Oliver Wiswell," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "Madame Curie," "Our Town," "Three Wheeling Through Africa," "Personal History," "Wind, Sand and Stars." Many of them are the very books that the men read most avidly in the camps. In many cases, books recommended by the highest literary authorities have been donated in Andover.

Some people have purchased as much as $40 worth of books; although many townspeople cannot be as generous, there are few who could not give one book, or its equivalent, to the campaign. Since none of us is sacrificing to the extent that our service men are, the library urges that they be provided with plenty of books to feed their minds and spirits, and to provide escape.

Selectmen Warn Of Dumping Nuisance

The local board of selectmen announced in an open letter this week, that the rules and regulations of the board of health regarding the proper transportation of waste material to the public dump will hereafter be more strictly enforced.

The complete statement read: "On October 31, 1941, your cooperation was requested in connection with the proper transportation of waste material to our public dump. For a short time, all truckmen responded, and the appearance of Beacon street and Chandler road was much improved, thanks to those who have cooperated and continue to do so.

"Several truckmen, however, have become extremely careless, and their attention is called to rules and regulations of the board of health, Chapter 10, Section 5.

"The police have been requested to see that the above regulation is lived up to, and violators will be prosecuted. We hope that you will make this step unnecessary."

gave a thundering approval—all except five rowdies up in the balcony, accoutered in loud coats, white flannels, aged straw hats and large bow ties, who seemed to think they could do better. In the time-honored way, Warren Truell, a fine interlocutor, by the way, invited them to come down and try; the five young roustabouts came down the aisle in battle formation and proved to be the end-men, surprise, surprise!

The rest of the show, naturally, was a near bedlam; the endmen acted with complete nonchalance, wisecracking at the audience, shooting toy autos across the stage at each other, making the usual violent assertions about their teachers and friends. Their antics during their performance of "Dark Town Strutters' Ball," "Strolling Through the Park One Day" and the celebrated "Chattanooga Choo-Choo"—the latter aided by a big bass drum—would have brought down the house if it had not come down at their initial appearance. Paul Marier made it all the Marier with two solo end numbers.

The specialties put on by various Junior high schoolers were just as good. Ruth Innes, Joan Fleming and Marjorie Mears gave unusually appealing readings, Waltraut Hacker favored with two accomplished dances, the Gilman sisters and the Johnson brothers furnished some mighty pretty music. The quality of young Hector Patullo's voice, of course, is no secret to anyone who has attended the numerous get-togethers at which he has been featured.

The most impressive part of the whole performance, however, was the combination of the entire cast to sing various war songs, culminating in the national anthem and the salute to the flag. That sort of thing, with the stage darkened and the young folks and old folks at respectful attention—well, it's good for our money any day of the week.

EXHIBIT HANDICRAFT

Handicraft, including woven bags, batik and block prints, collected on a round-the-world cruise from the Philippine Islands, Java and India, has been loaned to the Memorial Library by Miss Alice Jenkins of School street.

News Of Old Andover

50 YEARS AGO. Prof. Charles Sprague Smith, former local resident, was to deliver a stereopticon lecture here on Iceland. Now people know more about Iceland than they do about stereopticons... Miss Virginia Bryant, reader, was to assist at the Andover Orchestra's second concert... Lincoln Lodge, A. O. U. W., was planning a picnic-to-end-all-picnics at Grand View on the Merrimack... A short circuit in South Lawrence caused local trolley traffic to stop for over an hour—on Sunday night, of all times... Greater Lawrence prohibitionists were to plot their coming campaign in, appropriately enough, Prohibition Hall... The Andover Band's annual fair was to feature, at various times, a G. A. R. parade, a male chorus, a bayonet competition by bloodthirsty Punchard Cadets, a Swiss bell-ringer and a magician. For twenty cents, you really couldn't go wrong... A Ballardvale resident wrote in that he would be delighted to have the street cars come down there; the "natives" would welcome the invading Andoverians, provided they brought their own police force.

25 YEARS AGO. First week of the war—and John C. Angus, Alfred E. Stearns and William C. Crowley of the public safety committee called a patriotic mass meeting for Sunday night. Meanwhile, the committee set up an office in the lower town hall, planned to plant all available land, to ask for a dollar subscription from every adult, fifty cents from each child, and to give advice and aid to aliens. The Academy ambulance unit was to sail on the 28th. Bartlett H. Hayes called an organization meeting for the new home guard. A battery of heavy artillery was being organized in Lowell, and signing up at its first meeting were Francis Gedding, Robert V. Deyermund, George Symonds, James Coats, Guy E. Webster, Walter Lawson, Harold Lar-kin and Lyman Cheever.

10 YEARS AGO. Frank M. Smith resigned as chief of police, and the selectmen moved Capt. George A. Dane up to chief, Leonard Saunders to permanent sergeant, William R. Shaw to regular officer. Chief Smith, nearing 80, had been elected to the position 19 years before, after serving as a fireman since 1884... Local boys were being urged by the Legion to enroll for C. M. T. C. training, one of the town's more forward-looking projects... The depression was as frightening as ever; local merchants placed orange barrels in their stores for donations of food for the needy... Samuel H. Bailey, Jr., Frederick H. Morrison, and Arthur E. Steinert were declared eligible for the postmaster-ship... Nearing its hundredth birthday, the Baptist church's annual meeting reported many improvements in the first year of Rev. Lorenz Hansen's pastorate... Booth Tarkington, of all people, was appearing in a local movie.

CONFERENCES AT BRADFORD

Two community conferences on consumer education, to which the public is invited, will be held this afternoon and tomorrow at 4:00 at Bradford Junior College in Bradford. More Than Allegiance

"I pledge allegiance—"

It's worth pledging allegiance to, isn't it? And it's worth pledging more than allegiance to.

During the coming two weeks your government is going to ask you to pledge part of your weekly earnings to the purchase of war bonds and stamps. No, let's not say "purchase"; it's not really "purchase"; it's just a loan, a loan which is made an A-1 investment by a pledge of security for you and for yours.

A large number of citizens have volunteered to conduct the house-to-house canvass for pledges. It's not an easy job trudging the streets and knocking at doors. You can make it easier by your willingness to help them in their work; take the forms they give you, and fill them out with just as large a pledge as you feel you can afford. Make it even larger, for you can't afford to let this Nation lose the war.

You don't have to be told the work that war bonds are doing. It's in the newspapers every day. A squadron of planes flies from Australia to bomb the Japs on the Philippines, our Philippines; it was bonds that helped build those planes. A submarine takes a cruise and sinks a number of Jap ships; war bonds built that submarine. And some day, if you and you and you help, our stamps and our bonds are going to send a tidal wave of planes and tanks and ships over the world in a glorious and successful endeavor to bring to this world "liberty and justice for all."

Be Careful

It's the brush fire season again. Remember last year when all over the state there were brush fires and brush fires, some of which turned into forest fires that took days to control? We don't want that to happen again, and neither does the State Legislature. Last fall the legislators enacted into law a prohibition against outdoor fires, and this law has to be enforced.

The law, briefly, states that you can't light a fire in the outdoors unless the ground is substantially covered with snow. At other times you have to have written permission, and the fire department can't even give you permission in April or May unless it's raining. In other words to light a fire this month or next, you've first got to find a rainy day and then you've also got to get permission. If you fail to have either on both of these conditions taken care of, the chances are that you'll find the fire department will get pretty much burned up, to say nothing of your grounds.

There are a few places in which the law is relaxed a bit. First, you may use an incinerator if it's covered—but watch it just the same. Those things can cause fires, and do. Then you can also start a "reasonable fire for the purpose of cooking" upon sandy or gravelly land, free from living or dead vegetation or upon sandy or rocky beaches bordering on tidewater, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material.

All Out?

Those who read the article "Voices of Defeat" in last week's issue of "Life" can't help but wonder whether we here in the United States yet fully realize the spot we're in. We're at a very critical stage in this war, with Australia our last holding-on place in the far

Pacific, with our supply route to the valiant Russians very much in danger—and yet here in our own country we still allow literature to go abroad which has for its purpose the undermining of our war effort.

Possibly the whole trouble may be that the government itself does not realize how very seriously we the people take this war. A drastic clamping down on all these publications would be a move that would be wholeheartedly applauded by every true-blooded American citizen, and yet the government does not seem to have the courage to tackle the problem this way. It can't say it doesn't have the power, for in wartime, it certainly does.

We, the people, are very much for a real all-out effort; the government apparently needs a little prodding on this score. For instance, we are willing to give up things and keep giving them up until this war is won; when asked about cutting non-essential federal expenses, President Roosevelt professed ignorance as to the existence of such things. Come now. After all, we know enough about the federal government and its expenditures to have a pretty good idea that there are a number of items which wouldn't get a very high priority rating unless the ratings were given by people more interested apparently in keeping their party in power than in winning the war as soon as possible.

We want to win this war. We want every available cent to be put into winning this war. In the next couple of weeks the people of this country are going to pledge every bit of money that they can toward winning this war, and they'd like it very much if they could feel that the government itself were doing everything it could in every way to make victory certain as soon as possible. Otherwise the best thing to do with officials who won't go all-out in their war efforts would be to see that they go all out at the next election.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The Treasury Department of the United States has planned for a nation-wide campaign to secure from every person having regular income a voluntary pledge assuring the regular purchase of War Bonds and Stamps in an amount to be designated by the Pledgor, and

WHEREAS, The need of our Government is great, and the success of this campaign dependent upon a full understanding thereof and a wholehearted individual response, and

WHEREAS, The Pledge Campaign will be conducted in Massachusetts in each city and town during the period from April 20, 1942, to May 5, 1942, under the direction of the local War Bond Committee, and

WHEREAS, The success of this Pledge Campaign is a matter of local enthusiasm, effort and pride, and should enlist the active co-operation of every citizen,

NOW, THEREFORE, I Roy E. Hardy, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Andover, hereby proclaim this Pledge Campaign an undertaking of great national import and urge the full and prompt co-operation of all citizens in signing a voluntary Pledge for the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps.

Done at Andover, Massachusetts, this 16th day of April, 1942.

ROY E. HARDY,
Chairman Board of Selectmen

We're In a Scrap

Scrap metal, old paper, old rubber, old rags—they're all needed, and you all have some of all of it. You don't need them, either. They've been cluttering up your houses, and the papers and rags have constituted a fire hazard to you. They can all constitute hazards to the enemy.

We're going to have a monster salvage drive, with a local committee now organizing to start collecting all these things that once were waste but now are very valuable in our war effort.

Start looking around now. Gather all your scrap together and have it ready when the collection starts.

Clan Johnston Auxiliary Minstrels Tomorrow Night

A large attendance is expected at the old-time minstrel show to be put on in St. Augustine's parochial hall tomorrow night by members of the drill team to the ladies' auxiliary, Clan Johnston, O. S. C. A large chorus will take part in several elaborate numbers, and there will be dancing, singing and instrumental specialties.

The endmen will be Mrs. Raymond Lefebvre, Mrs. John Thomson, Miss Teresa Burbine, Mrs. James Gorrie, Mrs. Margaret Winters and Mrs. George Gorrie. Mrs. John Souter will serve as interlocutor.

Bisset Honored At Tufts

More than one hundred Tufts and Jackson students were honored at the annual Junior Day awards ceremony which was held in Goddard Chapel on the Tufts College campus Saturday morning. Special awards and honors were announced by the Junior Day marshals as a result of outstanding participation in extra-curricular activities.

Robert L. Bisset, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan M. Bisset of North Main street, was announced as a member of Tower Cross Senior honorary society at Tufts. He is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity.

Communication

Ballardvale

To the Editor:

They have been cutting down a lot of the half-grown elm trees in the ruins of the old file factory. That's all right; no doubt those elm trees are worth more for wartime fuel than for anything else.

But they have cut down the young apple tree, the only tree in the world that bore the new Ballardvale variety of apple. What did they want to cut down the apple tree for? It wasn't big enough for fuel and it didn't obstruct anybody's view of anything.

OWNSMAN, April 16, 1942

This Sober Town

Anyone who thinks that newspaper writing is just a matter of rolling up so much mileage on a typewriter should ponder a minute on the complete lack of synonyms for the word "blackout." In our recent essays on these nocturnal occurrences, we've been confronted with the problem about every ten words, and have come to the conclusion that no other noun in the English language contains even a modicum of its implications.

We face a somewhat similar situation every summer with the word
"playground," for which, as the radio announcers say, there is no acceptable substitute. "Rationing,"
"incident" and "selectmen" give us
much the same trouble.

But that's a monir work compared to our record of tomorrow's Barnard contest program. Should we say that the glee club is to sing
two selections, "Thanks Be to God,"
"Just For Today"? Or that the girls are to sing "Just for Today"—
"Thanks Be to God"?

Gone are the days when once we thought that the nearest we'd ever come to seeing a black-out would be that very remote day when Joe Louis was K-Oed. Twice we've had black-outs, and it looks as if we'll have more.

Last Thursday night's black-out was supposed to be a surprise, and it turned out to be more of a surprise than people had expected, mainly because the street lights were extinguished ahead of the alarm. The air-raid wardens, who are given inside dope via telephone about the approach of an alarm, had received their first signal and very quietly had repaired to their posts, whence on the second signal they were supposed to go to their beats. But before the second call came the lights went out and so did the wardens. The auxiliary police, too, were a little confused at what was then thought to be premature light-dousing by the power company; we saw one who hopped in his car, and arrived at his destination sans lumiere (Fr. for "no can see.") When the lights again went on, he found he had parked close to the middle of the street. Did he give himself a ticket? Well, he would have, but he suspected it might be fixed.

Most people just sit out these black-outs. Others try to go on with their customary activities. One man who smokes a pipe reports that "In a black-out I draw very slowly."
Last reports showed he had shifted to Mayo's dark cut plug. Another man had been reading a book, but he stopped because the book was enlightening. The local library recommends "The Light That Failed," or, if the black-out is successful, "Dark Victory." Some of the local imbiberies have provided themselves with blackout equipment, so that even in blackouts you can get lit.

John Grecoe, he of the "biggest little jewelry store," was rushing work on a watchband then came the black-out. Well, you can't watch a watch without a light, so John got one of the black-out canes that he sells and finished repairing the watch by the light that issues from the tip. They're very interesting things, those black-out canes.

There's a little flashlight affair up in the handle, and a long transparent plastic rod. A colored disk near the bulb makes them suitable for use in black-outs, since the dim glow is not visible at any distance and yet it is sufficient enough so that you walk along the street and can see where you're going. Apparently you can even lift it up in the air without a plane's being able to see it, but then—you're not supposed to raise cane in a black-out.

This is war, we are told, and every one of us must do our part.
Even to the youngest?—certainly,
and here's a case in point: we were walking down High street last week on one of its balmy days.
Out in her front yard, a young lady was busily engaged in spading a garden plot, and a young individual approximately two feet high,
equipped with a rake perhaps a foot shorter, was standing at attention nearby. A childish scream from a block away invited him to come up and play, but, in a rather sturdier treble, the youth replied: "I can't.
I've got to stay here and help my mother."

And this is as good a time as any
to toss an orchid in the general direction of our local post office,
which manages to find you no matter where or who you may be.
We've often wondered how the local clerks can know who "John Q.
Morphian, Andover, Mass." is, or that John W. Doe of Central street, who used to live on Chestnut street,
has been residing on Canterbury
street since last Tuesday.

Finding streets, we understand,
is much simpler than finding towns.
For instance, five years ago a letter addressed to "Frank L. Brigham, Punchard avenue" reached its proper owner, even though no town or state was mentioned in the address, and the letter was mailed in another part of the country. The secret is, of course, that there is only one Punchard avenue in the entire United States, but how would you like the job of finding out just where?

All Phillips Sports To Open This Week

Phillips Academy started its spring sports season yesterday with a baseball contest against Thayer Academy, and all other sports are expected to begin again within a week. Saturday, the track team opens with a dual meet with the Dartmouth freshmen, under the guidance of co-Captains Sheridan
and Reiley and Coach Ray Shepard.
Next Wednesday, the first tennis match of the season takes places
with the Harvard freshmen as opponents, at Cambridge. H. P. Kelley is coach of the tennis this year, and it is captained by C. M. Badger.

On April 25, both the lacrosse and golf teams will open their seasons, with the lacrosse team, captained by J. Naugle, Jr., and coached by Leonard James, meeting the M. I. T. frosh at Cambridge.
The golf team, captained this year by C. H. Marvin, and coached by Robert W. Sides and William H.
Brown, will take part in a round
robin golf match with Exeter.

Sugar Rationing Begins about May 1st

I have seen the forms to be made out by us retailers and I would rather fill out another income tax form than try to fill out a sugar rationing form.

For information to the trade, no one can get any sugar unless they present their sugar stamps in person. So, please study the rules and instructions so you will know how to go about it.

DEATHS

Mrs. Catherine M. Foran, 88, died Sunday after a long illness, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Catherine L. Burke of 61 Elm street. Born in Ireland, she had resided in New Haven for many years, and in Andover for the past eight.

Surviving besides her daughter are 15 grandchildren, among them, Misses Mary and Alice Burke of this town, and 25 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the family home Tuesday morning, with a requiem mass at 8:30 at St. Augustine's Church. The body was removed to New Haven, where a mass was celebrated at St. Francis' Church at 9:00 Wednesday. Interment was in the family lot in St. Bernard's cemetery, New Haven.

David B. Laing, 83, died Saturday night at his home at 1 Brechin Terrace after a long illness. Born in Brechin, Scotland, he had resided here for many years, and was once employed at the former Smith and Dove company. He was a member of the Free Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jennie (Playdon) Laing, and a niece, Mrs. Joseph Miller, both of this town.

The funeral was held from the family home Tuesday afternoon at 2:00, with services conducted by Rev. Herman C. Johnson, pastor of the Free Church. Interment was in the family lot in West Parish cemetery.

Miss Susan R. Carter, 88, a teacher for many years prior to her retirement several years ago, died Tuesday morning at her home on Rocky Hill road. A graduate of the Punchard Free School and Salem Normal School, she taught for many years at Clarke Institute for the Deaf at Northampton.

Surviving her are a sister, Mrs. Harriet Wright of this town; and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2:00 from the home of a niece, Mrs. Charles Sparks of Rocky Hill road. Rev. Cornelius Heyn, minister of the North Parish Church, North Andover, officiated, and cremation took place at Harmony Grove cemetery, Salem.

Miss Laura A. Stevens, 90, died Monday in Grasmere, N. H., following a brief illness. She had made her home during the past winter with her niece, Mrs. Peter D. Black of 6 Washington avenue, but had been a resident of Grasmere for the past 30 years.

JOSEPH M. ROBINSON

Somewhere about the year 1880 he started his business career through association with his father, Henry S. Robinson in the Robinson Boiler Works in East Boston.

After consolidation of the Robinson Boiler Works with the Atlantic Works in 1893, he, together with his father and his cousin, Edward P. Robinson, became associated with the Atlantic Works, also of East Boston.

Mr. Robinson served as Purchasing Agent of the Atlantic Works for a period of about 35 years, until 1928, when the business was taken over by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp.

During this long period he made a host of friends and acquaintances through business dealings of the Company and was highly esteemed by them. During this time he joined the Boston City Club and spent many pleasant hours there with some of these same friends.

One of his closest friendships came through contact with Mr. Alfred E. Cox of Malden, who was Treasurer of the Atlantic Works, and during the late 'nineties," Mr. Robinson took up his residence in Malden, remaining there as a near neighbor to Mr. Cox, until about three years ago, when he came to Andover.

Among his activities was his service as a Trustee of the East Boston Savings Bank, which was valued very highly.

Blackout

violations of blackout rules. Chief Blackout Officer Walter C. Tomlinson and Civilian Defense Chairman Alan T. Polgreen also expressed themselves as satisfied with the results.

Mr. Tomlinson reported that members of his committee had been stationed at vantage points throughout the town during the test, and that he expects to receive complete details from them at a meeting to be held shortly. Since the blackout officially begins not when the sirens sound but when the street lights are extinguished, as was the case Thursday night, he indicated that the next blackout may go into effect without the sounding of sirens at all. The latter test will be completely unscheduled; no time or date will be previously announced to even the highest officials in the town.

The chief point of interest in Thursday's test, perhaps, was the mobilization of all defense personnel between the reception of the "green one" signal at the local report center, and the actual beginning of the blackout. That phase of the operation was most successful. The police department, for instance, received "green one" at 9:10, and immediately, by telephone and police acting as messengers, rounded up 80-odd regular, reserve and auxiliary officers within 26 minutes. The majority of them were already at their posts, covering a large territory throughout town, before the street lights were put out.

MEDICAL UNITS ON DUTY

A large number of first aid and ambulance workers were on duty at three different stations within 30 minutes of the reception of the first signal from the warning center. The three units were at the Isham infirmary at Phillips Academy, at the residence of Dr. Nathaniel Stowers at 89 Main street, and at the Shawsheen Motor Mart on Haverhill street. Each was equipped with two vehicles, and in addition, two emergency ambulances and two other cars were used by the mobile hospital unit.

Ambulances were sent out from the Motor Mart, which was established as a temporary hospital, in response to incidents given out by the report center. Six "casualties" each were picked up on Canterbury street, Yale road and the Argyle apartments, and brought to the hospital for treatment. Drivers were furnished by the motor corps of the local women's defense units, and members of its canteen branch prepared food for the workers.

WARDENS NOTIFIED

Exact reports on assembling the wardens in all six precincts are not as yet available, but in one of the largest, staffed by 60 wardens, all had reported to their stations within 16 minutes of the chief precinct warden's notification from the report center. To summon the wardens, calls had to be made from the Peabody House center to the precinct wardens, from these to their own post wardens, and from them to the personnel assigned to each post. In view of this, the completion of the whole process in 16 minutes—since it is believed that all other precincts were completely staffed by that time—was most satisfactory.

Chief Warden Leonard F. James reported that the "green one" signal was received at 9:12, the street lights extinguished at approximately 9:30, green two recorded at 9:31, and the sirens sounded at 9:41. The all clear came at 10:09, so that the blackout had lasted nearly forty minutes, twice as long as the test on March 22.

TO TEST SIREN

The selectmen recently received for trial a two horsepower, 220 volt siren. They have no plans for its purchase until they have given it a complete tryout, possibly later this week, in different parts of the town where the other signals are not audible. In a large area in West Andover, and in the region around South Main street between Salem street and the bypass, such an additional signal is badly needed. The siren, sent here by a Boston manufacturing company, had not arrived in time for last Thursday's blackout.

To Present "Little Women"

"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood"—well, something that was familiar to every one of us in our childhoods will be the theme of the coming dramatic presentation by the Sorority of Our Lady of St. Augustine's Church. A large cast has been rehearsing steadily for several weeks now, in preparation for staging Louisa May Alcott's familiar "Little Women" on April 24 at 8:00 in St. Augustine's parochial hall.

Janice Driscoll is to have the important role of Jo; others taking part will be Ann McCarthy as Meg, Madge Twoomey as Beth, Betty Johnson as Amy, Evie Collins as Marmee, Katherine O'Riordan as Laurie, Marie Eastwood as Mr. Lawrence, Catherine Sheehy as Mr. Brooks, and Betty Golden as Aunt March.

Mrs. John Davidson is directing the production, and Atty. Anna Greeley is serving as stage manager. Tickets may be purchased from any Sorority member.
